

Accessible Instructional Materials (AIM) - e-text and audio formats

E-Book Format	About Format	Where to obtain e-books in this Format	What students need to use this e-book format
PDF (etext)	P ortable D ocument F ormat created by Adobe. E-books look just like textbook with both text and pictures and are memory efficient compared to other formats.	RESCUE e-books Publisher's e-books Internet documents	Computer with software programs: Adobe Reader, Ureader, PDF Equalizer The following free software needs a copy and paste to read. Natural Reader Read Please
HTML (etext)	HyperText Markup Language is a format used mostly in web browsers Includes both text and pictures. In a web browser, can be saved as a txt file without pictures.	Bookshare, Online newspapers and magazines accessiblebookcollection.org ($42/school/year) or $49 each student	Can be used in a web browser with Ureader. Mozilla FireFox web browser uses Click Speak (free), Internet Explorer uses Browse Aloud (free) OR html file can be saved as a text file, or copied and pasted into word processors such as TWP, MS Word with WordTalk or language bar 2003 & up.
XML DAISY (opf) (etext)	Extensible Markup Language DAISY defines an accessible XML (opf) structure for books (includes pictures) XML files are very large with pics!	Nimac Nimac and Bookshare	Uses web browsers for reading. Need xml converter then can read in MS Word, also Victor Reader software (free) on computer or Victor reader CD player
.txt, .rtf, .doc (etext)	Most word processing documents are .doc or .rtf and have formats retained. Txt is a plain text format with no formatting of document retained.	Project Gutenberg (classics) Save html as text file in web browser Documents such as tests by teachers	Ureader, TWP, Word Talk in MS Word, Natural Reader and Read Please (both free)
Mp3 (audio)	A common audio format for audio storage for the transfer and playback of music on digital audio players or a computer.	RESCUE e-books Project Gutenberg for Classics (some) Librivox (classics) Fee based sites such as www.audible.com ,	mp3 player mp3/CD player (if on CD) On computer: Windows Media Player OR Itunes

Most Internet information in a web browser can be copied and pasted into a word processor with speech, such as the free Natural Reader or Read Please. Some voices for computer reading are free (Microsoft), and some can be purchased. The purchased voices usually sound more human; they can also be purchased in a particular language, such as Spanish (both European and Latin available).